“ We have a state-of-the art gorgeous building that will last for generations.

Renier has a team of design-builders who are students in the auto business and they stay on top of their game. They know new products and trends, and we learned a lot working with them.

We didn't expect them to always know the answer to our questions, but we did expect them to get back to us in a timely manner. Consistently we would get an answer within the same day, and most the time in the same hour.

We dealt with a team of people that were responsive to our questions and needs. ”
