

"Every Harley-Davidson dealership is a special place for Harley riders. That's especially true of A. D. Farrow's, the world's oldest. We wouldn't trust just anybody with renovating the showroom and building our new museum. But Renier isn't just anybody."

Integrity:

Renier Worked Like Part Of Our Own Team.

When we remodeled our showroom a few years ago, we wanted to be sure we picked a contractor who cared about our project. Since A. D. Farrow's is the world's oldest Harley-Davidson dealership, we knew we had to get everything just right.

We couldn't shut down our operation to renovate. Renier understood that something you do to help your business in the future shouldn't hurt your business in the present.

Renier gave us a showroom that would have made A. D. Farrow himself very proud.

We recently decided to expand our facility, adding a museum and old-fashioned soda fountain. It wasn't hard to figure out which contractor to go with—we've been impressed with Renier and the way they work.

That's Why We Hired Them Again.
